

OKE SUMMER WORKSHOP

Friday, June 19th, 2015

1:30 – 4:30 p.m.

University of Oklahoma - Norman
Catlett - Room 032

Scott Sexton

Presents:

From Africa to Oklahoma: African-based Resources for the Music Classroom

Integrating a mixture of African choral music, dance and drumming, Scott Sexton will be presenting us with a variety of African-based resources that he's created based on the Kodaly curriculum for his students – particularly children's literature examples that help highlight a rhythmic or melodic concept. This workshop will have you up and moving via dance, song and drumming! Scott is currently teaching in Jackson, Mississippi, and received his National Kodaly Certification this past summer at the University of Oklahoma.

OKE SUMMER WORKSHOP

Friday, July 10th, 2015

1:30 – 4:30 p.m.

University of Oklahoma – Tulsa
Location TBD

Kevin Pearson

Presents:

Not for the Faint of Heart: Music in the Upper Grades

Ever wonder what is left to teach or where to begin with your older students? At this workshop, Kevin Pearson will be sharing lots of great ideas and energy to help engage the older students in the music classroom. Currently our OKE Chapter Treasurer, Kevin also serves on the National OAKE Board as Vice President and teaches in the Tulsa Public School District.